

Confluence Project
400 E. Evergreen Blvd.
Suite 101
Vancouver, WA 98660

The Confluence Project involves groundbreaking interpretive artwork by artist Maya Lin. Lin's Confluence Project works, which may include both building and landscape designs as well as integrated artwork, will be located at key confluences of the Columbia River Basin. The Confluence Project—like Lewis and Clark's journey—is an exploration of our potential to make the future better than the past. Through place and art, we will incorporate environmental concerns with an awareness of, and sensitivity to, the tremendous changes the Corps of Discovery effected on Native Americans and their tribal lands.

Acceptance

Count me in! My gift will support the Confluence Project's commission of interpretive works by Maya Lin.

(please print)

Name _____

Mailing address _____

City, State ZIP _____

Telephone (optional) _____

Email address (optional) _____

Amount

- $25       $50
 $100      $250
 $500      $1,000
 Other $ _____

I'm interested in learning more about other giving opportunities.

Please make checks payable to Confluence Project.

The Confluence Project is a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Service code.

Also

- I prefer to receive your electronic newsletter
 I prefer to receive your printed newsletter

I am also interested in:

- Columbia River Basin
 Lewis & Clark's journey
 Native American heritage
 Public art and architecture
 Environment
 Economic development/tourism
 Other _____